Our Members

With over 500 members, AMCIS is the leading association for those working in admissions, marketing and communications in independent schools. Established in 1993, AMCIS members are a wide range of the UK's independent schools, including some of the largest and smallest.

Our membership is diverse in both size and type, with single sex and co-ed, prep and senior, day and boarding schools all benefitting from AMCIS services. We are also proud to have a number of international schools in our membership.

“The information gained from the training programmes has been invaluable in helping to promote and implement new ideas and processes within our school.”

“I think it’s really important in the current climate that we (admissions, marketing and communications professionals) have a voice in the sector and AMCIS does this for us.”

“Networking opportunities through AMCIS are invaluable and worth the membership subscription alone.”

“The AMCIS office is really useful if I have a problem – they have dealt with so many schools they can usually answer my query or if not, point me in the right direction.”

AMCIS is a not for profit organisation. We work hard to keep our membership as affordable as low as possible. Subscription fees are published on our website.
